
Women\'s team has some talent

Posted by SUMG - 2007/11/02 04:21

We were killing the Houston Jaguars....all night. We started out with a huge lead....and kept it most of the night. I don't know the final...as I left early. But, we lead by 30+ a lot of the game.

We have a very athletic team. But, our opposition tonight was very, very weak.

There were probably 200+ people at the game.

Anyway, here's a new gal, who plays really well:

http://www.meangreensports.com/ViewArticle.dbml?SPSID=9132&SPID=565&DB_OEM_ID=1800&ATCLID=1240121&Q_SEASON=2007

She's a great PG. I think she should start over Escerela (sp?), the transfer from Colorado. Buckley is fun to watch. A gal, who plays like a "gym rat". You don't see that too often with women's players.

=====

Re:Women\'s team has some talent

Posted by CMJ - 2007/11/02 04:35

How'd James look? She always impresses over the radio.

=====

Re:Women\'s team has some talent

Posted by SUMG - 2007/11/02 06:20

CMJ wrote:

How'd James look? She always impresses over the radio.

She had a good game. The final was 111-65, so a lot of our gals had good games.

Once again, the Houston Jags were really weak. But, we still looked good.....

=====

Re:Women\'s team has some talent

Posted by CMJ - 2007/11/02 06:29

Oh I know. This isn't the first time Slinker has play'd them in the exhibition schedule.

I do think with our returning players and a more favorable schedule than last year the Ladies can be decent. How good will depend of injuries and how the new folks fit in with the nucleus. But I wouldnt be surprised if we compete for the West.

Slinker seems to have a crappy stretch followed by a good one.

=====