It gets really old

The douchebags on the other board, can turn any thread into another way to bash our DC, Ron Mendoza. I personally am sick of it.

Hey, you give the man a full year to do his job---then evaluate at the end of the season. And, if TD wants to make a change---that's up to him.

Granted, I'm not thrilled with our defense this year.

But, if you fired/demoted Coach Mendoza in the middle of the season....it would tarnish TD's rep with high school coaches throughout the state. How quickly would it get around what TD did to a guy who many high school coaches identify with (Mendoza). After all, just like many high school coaches are pulling for TD to make it as a head coach in college---they're also pulling for Todd's other high school coaches to succeed on this level, as well).

Not saying that Mendoza should be around next year...not at all.

But, you sure the heck give the man a full year to be evaluated on.
