
As I expected

There's been zero follow-up from RV, or anyone on his staff.....regarding my AD's box snub. I figured this would happen.

And quite frankly, since he promised that he would make it up to me....don't you think he would have already contacted me about something....if that was going to be done? Do you really think that come January---February---or whatever that the snubbing is going to be on his mind?

Anyway, that's okay. I'll still be a fan....and I'll still give them $1000. But, their bullshit just cost the department $4,000-$9,000. (Yeah, I had considered giving them $10,000 next year).

No way in Hell now.

Sorry, but I'm still pissed.

Maybe a strongly worded letter? That sucks man.

Earlier today I sent RV an e-mail....telling him to forget about it. If it mattered to them, they would have already contacted with whatever their plan was for "making it up to me".

Anyway, I let him know that I love the Mean Green and that I will still be a fan....but at a much lower level of the MGC. Their inaction....just cost them thousands. Think they care....I doubt it.

At the least I hope they try to make things right even if it took reminding by you. And I want a big make up here - like SUMG gets to play safety for the first series against LSU next year.

Seriously though, you are doing what I think is right and what ultimately CAN make this a better university. Usually people react certain ways in business because they were burned in the past from certain mistakes. Lets hope they see that treating fans that are buying into the program like trash is not going to keep fans like that around.

Luckily in this case they at least have a fan that is willing to take a kick in the nuts for his school. But if it were a brand new fan?

Thanks for at least sticking it out and still giving. We all know they need all they can get, but they need to run their business in a manner that will both retain and attract more donors.
