
My Team

Well we play our first game tonight on the road.

We return only three from our varsity from last year. One of them, our leading scorer, is out two weeks with grades. We have eight total on the varsity, including a soph and a freshman. Two of the players were good enough to be on the JV "B" team last year. Our tallest starter is 5'10.

My JV lost the soph and freshman to the varsity so they could actually have backups, and the best player I had left is out two weeks with grades. The JV has had one practice.

I will post how we do on here, because I like to pretend people care.

WOW. I am assuming your team is super quick. They will need to be in amazing shape and be able to run teams to death. Only 8 players on Varsity will certainly hurt your ability to run the entire game.
