The Suns beat the Nets 161-157 last night.

Steve Nash 42 points-13 assists-6 boards

Jason Kidd 38 points-14 assists-14 boards

IMHO, the two best point guards since Magic. And if you don't consider Magic a pure point guard, then Oscar Robertson. I don't listen to the ticket, but that may be considered an HSO.

I can't believe nobody offered a John Stockton or half hearted Gary Payton argument on this one.

I loved Stockton, and being a Celtics fan since I was a kid - hated Magic. But Johnson was unreal.

I kinda thought about countering with Stockton, but in the end I pretty much agree with the assesment. These 2 guys don't have a true go-to man like Stockton did - Not taking anything away from Stockton - he still would have been successful.
