
The Great American Shootout is coming to Denton

Posted by scrappy - 2006/06/27 20:06

Many of the states top recruits will be coming to Denton on the weekend of July 7th, to participate in the 18th annual Denton Great American Shoot out. While NCAA coaches are forbidden to converse with these student-athletes, the weekend provides a great opportunity for prospects to see the facilities at North Texas. Many current NBA stars have walked through the halls of the PEB during this event.

If you have a mid-Summer basketball jones, make it up to Denton July 7-10th and check it out!

The 18th Annual Denton Great American Shoot-Out will tip-off on Friday, July 7th at 25 gyms at the University of North Texas, the IAD complex and Denton area schools with 256 teams in the field. The field of teams is expected to attract 300+ college coaches to town for the weekend. Games will begin at all courts at 2:00 PM Friday. All teams will play their 3 pool games on Friday and Saturday. Single elimination bracket play will begin Sunday morning with the championship in all divisions taking place on Monday afternoon. The entire POOL schedule will be available on Monday, July 3rd. The teams entered are listed here...

Anybody heading to this? I have made it to probably 4 or 5 of them. They are pretty interesting to watch. A few years ago (after walking in right behind Bobby Knight), I was able to watch Deron Williams play.

Just came back from watching a few games over at The Pit and The PEB. Some good teams were there. Spotted was SMU's head coach looking at what I guessed was one of the boys from SOC.

I didn't spot any of the NT coaching staff, though I am sure they were there.

Also.....check out the new lighted signs as you walk in The Pit. A really good looking couple is featured in one of them ;D

Anybody catch your eye that wasn't a highly touted prospect?

I jotted some things down in my program, but don't have that program with me now. I will write some things I saw in a bit.
