
UNT @ Troy 1/13 7pm

Posted by daReporta - 2010/01/13 15:17

Troy is 9-5 overall, 2-3 in conference. Conference wins over FIU & UNO. They (like UNO) beat FIU without Rodgers (the girl that torched us). The win over FIU was 61-59. Win over UNO was 62-39. Conference losses to Denver (60-58), FAU (80-63), and ULM (69-67).

Probable Starters:

Brittnie Davis Sr 5'8"
Sophie Kleeman Fr 5'8"
Kirsten Smith So 5'9"
Alyce Shearing Sr 6'2"
Donette McNair Jr 5'11"

13 players on the roster, 9 play. It looks like their out of conference schedule was very weak. They had a not so impressive win (54-41) over St. Francis - which is probably THE WORST team in all of division 1 women's basketball.

UNT's Achilles Heel as of recent is road games... IF they play good TEAM ball and hold their composure...should be an easy win (along with taking care of the ball and making free-throws).

=====

Re:UNT @ Troy 1/13 7pm

Posted by daReporta - 2010/01/14 09:09

2 steps forward, 3 steps back. The team, as a whole had 9 assists.

The positive from the outing - They are on pace to set records for steals and the turnovers were under 20.

=====

Re:UNT @ Troy 1/13 7pm

Posted by GrandGreen - 2010/01/14 22:12

I missed the first of the game, but it appears that NT had the press working well. The problem was there was little defense once Troy broke the press. Very good game by Godbolt and James. Where was Hawkins? I think the primary problem with NT's game is that with very little depth and pressing, they just ran out of gas at the end.

=====