Wonder what Mr. Naismith would say if he saw the game today? Would he even claim it as the game he invented?

Probably not....

Initially there were tipoffs after every made basket for instance.

Ugh - I can't even imagine the beating of a tip off after every made bucket. Not real fan friendly.

I think there were like 10 rules. Later I might find them and post them.

I also think you had to pass the ball to move it...dribbling wasn't introduced for a few years.
