
Mavs Draft

Posted by Aaron - 2006/06/29 07:36

The Mavs selected Maurice Ager from Michigan State.

Let me see, a pure shooter who led the Big 10 in scoring and is a potential lockdown defender...We'll take him.

=====

Re: Mavs Draft

Posted by Aaron - 2006/06/29 09:46

Greatness as usual from the Sports Guy:

<http://sports.espn.go.com/espn/page2/story?page=simmons/060629>

10:20 -- The Mavs take Maurice Ager at No. 28. He puts his head in his hands and starts sobbing hysterically as his entourage congratulates him. It's about time we had some emotion tonight, dammit. Ager walks up to the stage in a triple-breasted, oversized beige suit, goes to shake hands with Stern and immediately gets whistled for a foul on Dwyane Wade.

=====

Re: Mavs Draft

Posted by Evan - 2006/06/29 15:11

I like the pick. The last time we picked a senior all conference performer late in the first round it worked out pretty well. It would be asking a lot for similar results, but I like that they are picking a more polished player who is capable of contributing early rather than a project.

=====

Re: Mavs Draft

Posted by Zeke - 2006/06/29 18:47

I agree it would be asking a lot. It sounds like a good player and a good situation. One thing I didn't want them to try was a Euro. Not because Euro's can't play, but because I don't think they can play without on the court training. The Mavs aren't the team for training.

=====

Re: Mavs Draft

Posted by Aaron - 2006/06/30 16:27

Apparently, an extension for Dirk and Josh will be announced as soon as they can, as well as a new contract for Jason Terry.

=====