You will never mistake me for a Larry Brown fan, but in this case, I will side with him.

"Coach Brown is so old-school," point guard Nate Robinson told the New York Post. "He wants everything done just like this, not getting the crowd involved. Isiah wants everyone to have fun.

If the Knicks are within 15 games of .500, it will be a pure accident. He just wants everyone to have fun. I wonder if Avery subscribes to that coaching theory?

You know what ISN"T any fun? Losing. When the knicks record is 0-0 under Isaiah Thomas it is a lot easier to have fun.

Thomas is ruining my good name ;D
